

Estes Goes Before Texas Grand Jury

Solvents Boss Denies Estes' Brazil Charge

Claims Testimony Of Finance Lawyer False, Defamatory

WASHINGTON (AP)—Maynard C. Wheeler, president of Commercial Solvents Corp., said today his company's relationship with Billie Sol Estes "was that of customer and supplier—and no more."

Testifying before a House Government Operations subcommittee investigating the Estes case, Wheeler took issue with testimony given by Frank Cain, a finance company lawyer, before a Texas court in inquiry.

"Most of Cain's testimony is false and defamatory," Wheeler said.

Cain, a Dallas lawyer representing Pacific Finance Co., had testified that Estes had told him, "They want to put me into business in Brazil." He said Estes was referring to Commercial Solvents Corp.

WANTED CREDIT

The chemical firm which Wheeler heads had financed Estes' dealings in anhydrous ammonia—a part of a many-sided business enterprise that collapsed when Estes was indicted for fraud last April. To secure his borrowings, Estes signed over to Commercial Solvents the payments he was to receive from the government for surplus grain storage.

Wheeler denied that he had said anything about establishing a business for Estes in Brazil, or had offered to help him with secret deposits in a Swiss bank.

Explaining how Commercial Solvents persuaded Estes to sign over payments for surplus grain storage, Wheeler said:

"The customer wanted credit and CSC obtained from Estes indications how prudent the corporation was in demanding security as a condition of continuing business relations."

Trend Continues Upward In Trade Area Employment

Employment in the Monroe area continued to increase during May, bringing the total number of workers to 28,600, or 2.6 per cent over the same period last year, it was disclosed today.

A report issued today by the Louisiana State Employment Service, Monroe office, 1801 Stubbs Avenue, shows that the increase in employment was 250 persons for the month of May, and 725 over last year.

Of this gain, 75 were placed in manufacturing jobs, but seasonal adjustments in non-manufacturing jobs were much larger. Favorable weather conditions, seasonal factors and improvement in general economic conditions were conducive to the employment increases, the report pointed out.

A notable increase was shown during April in the lumber, wood products, paper and chemical and allied products fields.

Dry weather during the past month resulted in the increased activities in sawmilling, logging and cooage.

This same dry weather was conducive to increases in outside work in the non-manufacturing fields. Construction was begun in large numbers, and the trend was expected to continue through the summer months.

A decline in unemployment, begun in February, is expected to continue through the summer months. The number of unemployed dropped to 2,425 a decline of 4.0 per cent under April and 9.3 per cent under May of 1961.

Sen. Johnston In Easy Victory

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP)—U.S. Sen. Olin D. Johnston handed young South Carolina Gov. Ernest F. Hollings a shattering political defeat Tuesday, winning their battle for Senate nomination by a landslide margin of nearly 2-1.

With 1,469 of the state's 1,604 precincts reporting, Johnston had 175,073 votes to 89,487 for Hollings.

Johnston will face Republican W. D. Workman Jr., Columbia newspaper columnist, in the November general elections.

Donald Russell, 55, Spartanburg attorney and former president of the University of South Carolina, ran away from Lt. Gov. Burnet R. Maybank and three others to win the Democratic nomination for governor. The nomination is tantamount to election since the Republicans have no candidate in the November election.

Pettit Named New President Of Police Jury By 8 To 7 Vote

L. B. Pettit of Ward Three is new president of the Ouachita Parish Police Jury.

A deadlocked 8-8 tie vote at two previous sessions was broken by the absence at today's meet of one of M. W. Montgomery's supporters—Tom Hicks of Ward Five, due to an injury suffered in a fall.

Montgomery announced that he would not be a candidate for reelection before the voting started today.

Irvin W. Kilpatrick of ward 10 was nominated in Montgomery's place, and received seven votes. Pettit received eight and was elected by a one-vote margin.

100 PER CENT
Late in the meeting, F. G. (Red) Studdard, who cast his vote for Montgomery, offered a motion that the Police Jury "go on record as supporting Brother Pettit 100 per cent . . . and give him a standing vote of confidence. Let's quit this damn fighting."

The Jury stood in support of the motion.

After the session, Pettit was questioned on any changes he has in mind for the jury.

"We always change the committees each year," he stated.

BUDGET CONSIDERED

Studied Behind 'Closed Doors'

By SAM HANNA
Staff Writer

BATON ROUGE — Gov. Jimmie H. Davis' leaders today continued to consider the budget behind closed doors while it appeared that the Legislature will have little opportunity to alter the proposed spending.

The House appropriations committee has been meeting daily for the past three weeks, but in executive session with only committee members present.

Outsiders have been permitted to go before the committee from time to time.

Rep. Bryan Lehmann of Norco says the committee will be through with its work within the next several days.

The administration leader predicted that the budget as approved by the committee will be in the hands of the Legislature by Sunday night week.

This means that the lawmakers will have less than two weeks to wade through $785-million in state spending proposals, which includes numerous reductions.

Administration leaders have indicated that the governor does not want the budget changed, but the first move against the direction came Tuesday when the Senate approved an additional $1 million for the State Board of Liquidation on state debt.

Administration leaders backed the proposal by Sen. B. B. (Sixty) Rayburn of Bogalusa.

The Senate voted 23-15 in favor of the bill despite protests from several Senators who charged that the Legislature would not have any control over the funds.

2-Term Bill Fails To Win Approval

BATON ROUGE (Staff Special)—The Louisiana House today rejected a Little Hoover Commission bill that would permit the governor to succeed himself.

Rep. Robert Munson, commission chairman, handling the bill on the floor, changed his vote from "yea" to "nay" in order that the measure can be brought back for reconsideration.

After Munson's move, the House vote was 64-49 in favor of the bill, but a two-thirds majority was required since it contained a constitutional amendment.

Gov. Jimmie H. Davis' floor leaders remained silent during the debate, but two of them voted for it — Rep. Risley Triche and Rep. T. T. Fields of Farmerville.

Munson said "The Little Hoover Commission gave this matter

2 Men Killed In Head-On Crash

PLAQUEMINE, La. (AP) — Iberville Parish sheriff's deputies said today two men died in a head-on traffic crash near here.

The victims were identified by officers as Harry Foy, Metairie, age unknown, and 20-year-old Louis S. Vince, a Louisiana State University student from Baton Rouge.

Vince's young wife was reportedly in critical condition at Plaquemine sanitarium.

Officers said Foy was apparently killed instantly and his body was pinned under the wheel of his car.

A wrecker was used to pull the door of the Vince car apart in order to get Vince out of the vehicle, deputies said. Mrs. Vince was the only other occupant of the car.

Rogers, Davis Hit Governor For 'Penalty'

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Two north Louisiana senators accused Gov. Jimmie H. Davis today of punitive actions against his folks back home because the lawmakers could not be ruled by his iron hand.

One of the governor's top Senate floor leaders quickly countered he didn't believe the senators were "saying the truth."

Sen. B. H. Rogers, Grand Cane, told the Senate in a statement entered in the Journal "it appears that we have entered an era of punitive legislation. I refer to the action in the House yesterday in which the administration of Gov. Jimmie H. Davis defeated two measures which would have authorized the establishment of a state college for whites and a state college for Negroes in the Shreveport area."

Sen. Jackson B. Davis, Shreveport, shouted "shame, shame on you, Jimmie Davis, for what you are doing to the people of Caddo Parish."

NOT ONE DIME

Davis said because lawmakers "had the intestinal fortitude to vote as our conscience dictated" the people of Caddo had been cut off state projects with "absolutely not one thin dime."

He and the people of Caddo were being punished, Davis said, although the area had consistently supported Gov. Davis throughout his political career. Sen. Davis added he was chagrined that he had the same surname as the governor.

Sen. William Cleveland, Crowley, read several names of representatives who he said were supporters of Gov. Davis in the House, but who voted for the colleges bill.

"When he (Rogers) says the governor is responsible for killing the bill," Cleveland said, "I don't believe he is saying the truth."

"You folks will get up here and vote for a college," Cleveland said. "But every time we get ready to vote a tax to raise money you are not ready to vote for it. We don't have the money now to establish a new institution. I don't think you can blame the governor for all those things you said in that statement."

Partly cloudy skies through Thursday with widely scattered mostly afternoon thundershowers were forecast by the weatherman. Ol' Windy Whiffblow was prepared for temperatures around 88 with a low of 66 tonight and variable winds fly to 15 miles-per-hour except gusty near thundershowers.

Judge To Play Unusual Role In Marcello Case

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — U. S. Judge J. Skelly Wright returns to New Orleans today to play what is for him an unusual part in a federal case.

Wright will take the stand in U. S. Dist. Judge Harold Ainsworth's court to testify concerning the plea of racketeer Carlos Marcello to a marijuana charge in 1938.

Marcello is seeking to have the conviction set aside. Judge Wright is the only man alive who was present when Marcello pleaded guilty to selling marijuana 24 years ago.

The motion is important to Marcello because the conviction is the only ground on which the government rests its deportation case against him.

Marcello contends that the conviction and sentence should be set aside because he was not represented by counsel when he made the plea.

If he is successful, it would pave the way for proceedings to nullify his deportation order.

The government has been trying to remove Marcello from the country for nine years. He returned to the United States from Guatemala last year after saying he was deported illegally by immigration authorities.

Report Ohio GI Defects To Reds

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Pyongyang radio says an American soldier has taken refuge in Communist North Korea and likes what he has seen—"people leading free, happy and peaceful lives."

The soldier was identified as Pvt. Larry A. Abshier, 18, of Cleveland, Ohio. The U.S. Army said he apparently was the first American defector to the Reds in Korea since the end of the Korean War.

Abshier, serving with a reconnaissance squadron along the armistice line, was last seen running across the no man's land toward the north on May 28. He ignored calls to turn back.

The North Koreans said they gave the young GI a red carpet reception, taking him to the capital of Pyongyang and other cities. Pyongyang radio quoted Abshier as saying he was making the Army a career.

Will Testify On Death Of Henry Marshall

Lawyer Withdraws Petition To Bar His Appearance

FRANKLIN, Tex. (UPI) — Billie Sol Estes went before a Texas grand jury today to tell it what he knows about the mysterious death of an Agriculture Department official.

Estes went before the grand jury shortly after his lawyer, John Cofer, agreed to withhold pressing a petition for writ of habeas corpus.

The writ would have nullified Estes' subpoena and kept him from testifying.

OTHER FOUR

Estes walked into the jury room flanked by Cofer and Texas Ranger Capt. Clint Peoples. He was discussing recent rains and crop prospects with Peoples.

Because grand jury proceedings are secret, Estes' testimony will not be made public at this time.

Cofer filed a petition for the writ this morning with Dist. Judge John Barron. He also won from Barron the right to question grand jury members for possible bias involving Estes.

After questioning eight of the jurors, Cofer waived the right to question the other four and agreed to hold the petition for a writ in abeyance for the time being.

The grand jury wants to find out what connection, if any, Estes has with the death of Agriculture Department official Henry H. Marshall. Marshall was believed to be investigating Estes' cotton allotment operations when he was found shot to death June 3, 1961.

Cofer said the petition for the writ was filed on the grounds "that if he (Estes) is under heavy suspicion of murder, the grand jury has no right to question him at all."

SAYS ILLEGAL

"If he is not under suspicion, then I want to find out what the state contends. If he is not under suspicion, he is not going to let the grand jury use as inference against him that he refused to testify."

Dist. Judge John M. Barron said he will hold a hearing on the petition as soon as possible.

In the petition for the writ, Cofer said Estes is being illegally restrained by the subpoena issued against him.

Show Biz Union Witness Admits Rules Unenforced

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ernest Fast, former Midwest regional director of the American Guild of Variety Artists, testified today he never enforced the union's rules protecting women entertainers from having to hustle drinks.

He said he has read in the newspapers that through such practices some AGVA members had become involved in prostitution but that he has no personal knowledge of this.

Testifying before the Senate investigations subcommittee, Fast told of negotiating contracts which forbade night clubs to require entertainers to hustle drinks, mingle with customers, or do anything unlawful.

"Was that clause ever enforced to your knowledge?" subcommittee counsel Jerome Adlerman demanded.

"No, sir," Fast replied, "I never told any operator he really had to enforce it."

The subcommittee is exploring the question of whether additional legislation is needed to protect union members from abuses by union officers.

Police Jury Told Finances Better

Ouachita's Parish Police Jury adopted an ordinance today creating the Tanglewood sewerage district number one, called on a four-judge committee to recommend a new juvenile probation officer and learned that road finances have improved $136,000 worth during the past year.

Monroe City Attorney Haynes Harkey presented the plans for the sewerage district at a scheduled public hearing.

Property owner W. A. Whitfield Jr., who owns land near the proposed sewerage district location off the Wimsboro Road requested an explanation of what it would involve and exactly where it would be located.

Project engineer Lester High was summoned to the session, and explained that the disposal system would be via an oxidation pond.

He stressed that there would be no odor from the pond, and that this type system "is considered the safest means of disposing of sewerage, as far as health hazards and odor are concerned."

Whitfield repeated that he thought the property owners should be advised of the details on the project. F. G. (Red) Studdard of ward one then asked, "Why didn't they come up here" to the publicly advertised hearing.

The jury took action to create the district, but no work will be done until after additional public hearings are held.

Buster Crowley, parish juvenile officer, asked the jury to add a third probation officer to the staff, in addition, to replacing

Mrs. Willie Harris who resigned in March.

Studdard then spoke up that a woman was needed to "talk to the little girls. I never had thought about that until some of the people called my attention to it." Crowley agreed with him.

"I think we ought to build a fire under the judges," said newly elected President L. B. Pettit. "They have been considering applications for six months now. I've had two nice ladies apply to me."

The juvenile office has been operated on a one-man basis since Mrs. Harris retired. It is up to a four-judge committee to make recommendations for another officer.

On recommendation of Pettit and Studdard, the jury voted to ask the judges' committee to determine whether one or two more officers are needed, and to make a recommendation on the applicants. The Police Jury will take care of the actual hiring.

Jurors viewed a comparison report submitted by Parish Engineer Wayne Huckaby, covering the period from June 1, 1960 to June 1, 1961 — the year immediately before he took office, and from June 1, 1961 to June 1, 1962 — his first year's work.

It showed that cash on hand, as of a year ago, was $172,604.27, while this year, including accounts receivable, it totals $308,747.29, or an increase of $136,143.02.

The report also showed that 121,447 yards of gravel were hauled during the past year, an increase of 47,249 over the prior year, and a 61 per cent increase

Withholding Tax Plan Is Opposed Here

Twin City banking, savings and loan and investment officials have expressed opposition to the proposal now before Congress to withhold taxes on dividends and interests. All contend it will cause unnecessary burdens on the institutions and create a tax area where it is not needed.

The proposal, sponsored and being pushed by the present national administration, would place a blanket 20 per cent on all dividends and interests, whether the investor may owe that much tax or not. Should the proposal be approved, the investor must make the payment, then go through channels to obtain the refund for the overpayment.

A check of officials in the banking and investment fields showed none were in favor of the bill. All felt it would hurt business, as well as create additional accounting expenses on the institutions.

Thomas D. Seale, district sales manager in West Monroe, for the Investors Diversified Services, Inc., said the company stands to be hurt badly under the terms of the bill. "The average taxpayer will have up to twice as much withheld as he ultimately will owe in taxes. Meanwhile he will be deprived of the earning power of his money until by his own efforts he can obtain a refund, as the government will pay no interest on any overpayment."

J. W. Robertson, president of the First National Bank of West Monroe, said the bill was not a good thing, adding "it would work a hardship on savings institutions because it discourages thrift. People will be less prone to save if they know they are going to be taxed for it."

R. L. Vanderpool, president of the Ouachita National Bank, said he felt like the "proposition would withhold money from people not owing any tax, and will impose a burden on corporations, buildings and loans, and banks in added expenses from collecting and accounting for all this money."

Conway Crossland, head of the Central Savings Bank and Trust Company, said the bill "would increase" the overhead of institutions handling the withholding tax. "As far as the economy in our local community goes, it could use the 20 per cent which goes immediately back to the government," Crossland pointed out.

From U. S. Highway 165 north to the Parker dam.

9. Voted to write to the Ouachita Parish legislative delegation asking support of a bill by Rep. T. T. Fields of Union parish, to re-instate into the state's budget funds to operate the canning center at Calhoun. The budget left out this item, ward six's Lloyd W. Coon pointed out.

10. Learned from Ward Eight's J. H. Brown that reservations may be made for use of the large shelter at Cheniere Lake's area. Reservations may be made with Superintendent Jesse Brantley, for groups of 26 more persons.

City Backs Move To Clear I-20 Rights-Of-Way

West Monroe is backing the Louisiana Highway Department in requesting Southern Bell Telephone, United Gas and Louisiana Power and Light to move their lines out of the Interstate Highway 20 right-of-way.

The WM City Council passed a resolution to this effect at its Tuesday night meeting. The Highway Department has a lawsuit before the state Supreme Court asking that private enterprises pay for moving their own facilities.

Newly elected aldermen attended the meet, the final one held by the city's five out-going council members.

The Council elected Whit O. Smith to fill a vacancy on the municipal Fire and Police Civil Service Board, called for the annual city audit to begin Friday, and opened bids on a new car for the assistant fire chief. The bids were taken under advisement.

In other action, the Council extended the city limits to include units two and three of Chapel Fairchild subdivision, subject to filing of water, street and sewer improvement plans, and voted for legal advertisement of inclusion of Pinecrest subdivision in the city.

Members also accepted a plan for beautification of the city hall grounds, as presented by WM Chamber of Commerce President Eugene Scott.

Board Race Is Announced By Mulhearn

John E. Mulhearn, Monroe insurance man, has announced his candidacy for the State Board of Education seat from the Fifth Congressional District.

He will seek the Democratic nomination to the post in the July 28 Democratic primary.

Mulhearn issued the following statement:

STATEMENT

"I am 51 years of age, a native of Monroe, having attended and finished Monroe City High School, attended Tulane University, resided in Rayville, Richland Parish, for eighteen years, having served as mayor during the last five of those years. In 1951 I resigned in order to enter the law school of the University of Mississippi from which I graduated in 1953. From that date until 1960 I lived and practiced in Natchez, Miss., after which my residence has been in Monroe along with that of my family. My wife is the former Evelyn Richardson of Minden and she is presently a teacher at Barkdull Faulk School in Monroe.

"We are the parents of two sons and a daughter. Our eldest son, J. E. Jr., is a practicing attorney of Natchez. Our son, Edwin, is a pre-law student at Northeast Louisiana State College. Our daughter, Ruth, is a senior at Neville High School.

"My services are now engaged in the management of the Mulhearn Protective Insurance Company of Monroe.

"I am a member of First Methodist Church of Monroe and of several Masonic bodies, R. F. McGuire Lodge No. 209 F & A M of Rayville, Monroe Commandery No. 7, Knights Templar, and El Karubah Temple of Shreveport. I am affiliated with the Knights of Pythias and the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks. I am also a member of the Phi Alpha Delta legal fraternity and the American Bar Association.

"In the year 1868 the Constitution of the State of Louisiana provided that no public school maintained by the state should make any distinction of race, color, or previous condition, and that any child between the ages of 6 and 21 should be admitted.

"In regard to the above mentioned law R. M. Lusher, the superintendent of public instruction for 1877, at which time separate schools for white and colored children had been re-established, stated: 'The senseless inhibitions of articles 135 and 136 have been generally disregarded in the rural parishes of the state, and the system of public education has steadily gained favor from the popular mind only where separate schools for white and colored children, respectively, were established and maintained.

Under the present law the parish directors have cheerfully opened and liberally sustained a white and colored school apart in each ward, to the mutual satisfaction of both races, and only the continuance of this equitable plan can possibly secure contributions from tax payers for the preservation and maintenance of any system of education whatever at the public expense."

"Without any doubt or reservation I concur in the statement of Mr. Lusher and am convinced that only the continued use of separate schools will secure contributions from tax payers for the preservation and maintenance of any system of education whatever at public expense." My actions as a board member will be so manifested.

"My time, willingness and ability are not only available for the office, but I express my most sincere desire to serve the constituents of this district, the children and the parents of this district along with all school officials and each and every school teacher, school instructor, professor, and all others in whatsoever capacity they may be associated with the Louisiana public school system.

"As a board member I shall insist that those in the State Department of Education, who are charged with the fulfillment of its enactments and policies, execute them without partiality, malice or prejudice, and that the high character and dignity of those in the teaching profession be reflected in the functioning of the Department.

"The progress and improvement of our schools and colleges, particularly, in this district, are the goals for which I shall strive and work.

"Your consideration, support and vote are earnestly solicited."

The Truth About Hormones To Make Skin Look Young

As I write this article, I can look through the doorway and see a woman of 45 waiting in the outer office. The light is good and I see her clearly.

She looks 10 years younger today than she did a month ago. What brought about this amazing change? Estrogenic hormones. Reams have been written about hormones. Will they make women of 75 look 16 again? Absolutely not. Will they make women of 60 feel like they are 20 again? Only in a way I shall explain later.

To know the truth about hormones you need to learn just two simple facts: 1. The beauty of a woman's skin starts breaking down as signs of menopause begin, because the female organs fail to supply enough estrogenic hormones to feed the skin—less and less as you grow older. 2. Estrogenic hormones can be supplied to the skin through formulations containing hormones.

Here is a test reported in a scientific journal, one of many that showed similarly sensational results. Twenty-five women applied hormones to one side of the face and neck, and to one hand. On the other side and the other hand, a similar preparation containing no hormones was applied.

These are the reports in simple words:

Skin lines (dry-skin wrinkles) quickly dimmed or disappeared from sight as creases and hollows filled out.

Blotches and "old-age freckles" faded on hands, face and neck. Skin was softer, clearer, seemed to lose its chronic dryness, and take on revived freshness and vitality.

All these amazing things happened on the side where the hormones were used. Meanwhile no changes occurred on the other side. The same withered, lifeless complexion.

Still another scientist reports in effect, improvement in the skin of women post menopause was striking. These women looked like the years had been turned back toward their youthful "pre-change" appearance.

I've seen this myself. I have seen the improvement so rapid that in just two days women looked younger. And, what a lift to the spirits! I cannot truthfully say that women of 60 felt like they were 20 again. But I have seen the light come back into their eyes — their chins raised with proud confidence — the zest for living return — because — I presume — to look younger is to feel younger.

Now to select a good estrogenic hormone preparation, here is what you need to know: the strength of the hormone preparation must appear on the label. The recommended daily allotment for the skin is 330 Units.

The base should be as rich as possible in moisturizing lanolin and penetrating vegetable oils and when "rubbed in" your skin should not feel greasy or sticky. On first application, your skin should feel a radiant glow of revitalized youthfulness and refreshment.

An extra good buy in hormone products today is a preparation called HORMONEX Beauty Serum. It is made by a 40-year-old laboratory that has produced over 80 million packages of pure, fine cosmetics. HORMONEX is so effective in revitalizing aging skin that over 500 leading department stores and thousands of drug and cosmetic outlets recommend it to their customers.

What is more, it is guaranteed to bring you joyous, noticeable results in 5 days or your money back. HORMONEX Beauty Serum is really a bargain at $3.50. So, if you want to see if your dreams of a younger-looking skin—with these wrinkles dimmed, color and texture improved, can come true, I suggest you get a 100-day supply now. Use HORMONEX Beauty Serum for 5 days—then look for amazing results.

A single drop is so potent
A 100-day supply costs only $3.50 plus tax

Now you can concentrate your hormone treatment on spots that need it most because HORMONEX Beauty Serum is so powerful a drop of it gives skin over three times as many hormone units as a dab of cream. Wonderful about the eyes and mouth, on the throat.

The most potent hormone preparation we know of for beauty culture—33,000 I. U. per ounce—equal to three and one-half ounce jars of standard hormone cream. One bottle lasts about 100 days. Just 7 drops daily gives you the maximum allotment of serum hormones. Contains large percentage of Lanolin and penetrating Sesame Oil to help replace natural oils of the skin and make your face and hands look younger.

Treasury Secretary Speaks Fiscal Sense

Secretary of the Treasury Dillon made a recent talk to the New York Financial Writers Association in which he pointedly avoided any reference to businessmen in triple-hyphenated words. In fact, he put the administration's best foot forward for better business relations.

He affirmed to following:

"Profits are essential to the operation of our free enterprise system. This fact is as fully recognized by those in government as by those in business, since government depends upon profits for a large portion of its revenues. Even more important, government is well aware that the economic growth we all seek depends upon the ability of capital, as well as labor, to earn a full return."

This is no speaking in broad generalities which mean all things to all people. The sentence which says profits are essential to the operation of our free enterprise system sets Dillon in a category which is not compatible with the socialistic trends of greater government ownership.

The conservative elements in both major political parties share this view. There is no quarrel, for example, with his statement that we must work toward "full employment, rapid growth so that we may steadily improve our standard of living, and reasonable price stability."

On other points, too, Dillon offered encouragement. At a time when investor uncertainty and business doubts are affecting the economic mood, he sought to lay some facts on the table. He did not, as the party leaders have done in the Billie Sol Estes case, attempt to throw up a smoke screen.

Second quarter levels of business have shown an improvement over the "disappointing performance" of the earlier three months, according to Dillon's reckoning. The balance of payments deficit is running currently at a $1.5 billion annual rate as compared with a $2.5 billion level a year ago. The amount had reached $3.5 billion for the three previous years, according to Dillon's figures.

This lessening of the balance of payments deficit—which has to do with the outflow of our gold supply from Fort Knox—is an encouraging sign regardless of which administration is in power.

The Treasury Secretary also said the proposed tax reform, which includes a provision for an across the board tax cut, would "not be a hasty, ill-considered reaction to the gyrations of the stock market."

We hope the statements made by Secretary Dillon will be incorporated into the Kennedy administration's financial and economic thinking. If such is the case, the market should show fewer extremes of chills and fever in the months to come.

Massachusetts Turns To Dynasty Building

The Democratic Party's nomination of young Ted Kennedy—the President's brother—for its candidate to the U.S. Senate from Massachusetts brought the dynasty issue into sharp focus.

In the last stages of the battle for the convention nomination it appeared the President and Attorney General actually took it upon themselves to prove that they could carry Massachusetts for their brother.

Now the GOP convention is headed down to the wire this week, and the Democrats are already pointing to a "dynasty problem" in that party. The chief Republican rivals for the U. S. Senate are George Cabot Lodge and U. S. Representative Laurence Curtis.

Lodge is the son of former United Nations ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, who has virtually retired from public life since the of the 1960 elections. The senior Lodge ran for vice president on the Republican ticket but did not conduct a strong campaign.

The "dynasty" label on possible opposition is a trick by the Kennedy brothers to remove any stigma which the public may have attached to their practice of nepotism. In politics, the pot may call the kettle black if the kettle's soot appears to be embarrassing.

The younger Lodge told a group of convention delegates last Sunday:

"I have been lumped with the dynasty of my opponent. The dynasty issue is a good issue and one that I can particularly press against the Democrats.

"I have no brother in the White House, nor do I have an uncle who is speaker of the House, nor have I had a close relative in high elective office for 10 years."

Lodge could have added a few more on the Kennedy team, including the Attorney General and various and sundry in-laws.

Much has been written about the Long dynasty from Louisiana. This consisted of a governor who later became a U. S. senator, his son, who was elected to the Senate several years after the death of his father, and a brother, who served several terms as governor and lieutenant governor—all over a 30-year period. In this era of power politics, the Long dynasty appears mild in comparison to other family plans.

That's The Part They Don't Like

President Apparently Unaware Of Wage-Price Dilemma

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON. — President Kennedy still shows no awareness of the serious plight of the American economy today. At his Thursday news conference he made no mention of the continuing demands of labor-union leaders who seek to increase wage costs. Nor did he indicate any change in the administration's policy in forcing a "profit squeeze" by condemning price increases that are designed to take care of such labor costs. This dilemma, however, has been the basic cause of the stock market's recent collapse.

Mr. Kennedy chose instead to regard the market's fall as merely the natural result of the overpricing of securities and the ending of an era of inflation. He thinks it's all just speculative and—like President Hoover in 1929—is he arguing that conditions are fundamentally sound.

SPOKE VAGUELY

The president doesn't seem to have made up his mind just when a general tax cut that might be helpful to economic progress should be made. For he talked vaguely at his news conference about postponing action on such a measure till the session of Congress which begins next January. He said the bill could be made retroactive so it would take effect on the first of next year. But it's difficult to do this, as the whole nation of taxpayers will find it hard to estimate their taxes while Congress is debating a change in rates. Also, the President has tied into the same measure what he calls "offsetting" tax reforms to close "loopholes" and cut down loss of tax revenue. The President admits the net tax reduction will not be large. This will mean long debate and delay.

Maybe Mr. Kennedy thinks that Congress, which is to get the text of his tax proposals at the end of this summer, will be under such pressure from the people that an extra session may have to be called after the congressional elections in November to enact the bill.

But these tactics could boom-or-bust. The people would be voting then on an expectation instead of a concrete piece of legislation. Is this fair to the people? Aren't they entitled to know in advance what their taxes will be for the year ahead, and to have a chance to voice approval or disapproval at the polls? Practical politics may dictate the answer that it is better to keep the people guessing and let them hope they may get more than they really will. To tell them exactly how little they will receive—when they have been led to expect more—is not supposed to be a wise strategy a few weeks before an election.

The whole approach is political. The administration isn't really anxious to grant any tax cut. It doesn't actually plan to let the corporation-tax rate go down very much, if at all. The sop to the industrial world is supposed to be in the form of two tax benefits. One, which will not be enacted by law but by revising existing treasury regulations, would permit certain industries to shorten the period on which depreciation rates are computed. The other would be a law giving to certain industries an 8 per cent investment credit. But this applies only to new machinery and equipment. It doesn't cover the whole problem of modernization which confronts companies in the heavy-goods industries. This proposal has been before Congress for many months now. It has awakened little enthusiasm. For a great deal of opposition. For it really doesn't solve the problem of depreciation rules which for many years have been in need of a general overhauling.

The bandying about of such figures as a tax credit of $1.3 billion for new machinery and a tax saving of $1.2 billion through the new depreciation rules and perhaps another $200 million in various reductions of special taxes—such as those on transportation—will give the impression that a substantial tax cut is being recommended by the President. In an economy which is supposed to have a gross national output estimated at somewhere between $550 and $565 billion this year, these are relatively trivial tax reductions.

Mr. Kennedy talked also about the possibility of an $8 billion surplus in the federal budget if the economy were to operate at full capacity. This is a figure picked out of the air by his advisers who represent the school of thought which holds that a tax cut is periodically necessary to prevent too great a drain on the economy by taxes within a given period.

The American people, on the other hand, aren't worrying today about how the tax totals might theoretically become too big a slice of a prosperous economy. What they want to see first is a prosperous economy achieved. They then can worry about whether too much money is being taken out for taxes.

The real concern today is how to stimulate an economy in which profits have been squeezed by skyrocketing wage costs that have won the approval of an administration dependent for political support on the votes and campaign contributions furnished by union labor. The issue real isn't being faced—whether monopoly power on the wage-cost side is ever going to be broken up just as monopoly power on the management side is forbidden by law.

SPENDING

To promise tax cuts "across the board" in 1963 to individuals will spur consumer spending and bring back fears of inflation. To give the proposed tax cuts to a few businesses next year will not save those really in trouble today.

The President has not come to grips with the immediate situation. He is taking a big risk politically, too. He may get the surprise of his life in the November elections. It is customary for the people to vote against the party in power when an economic recession is on—and there are signs that the forecast by the stock market of continued recession is more likely to turn out to be true than the optimistic statements of a big recovery by next November being issued in political precincts nowadays in Washington.

House Democrats Want No Deep Probe Of Estes Deals

By FULTON LEWIS, JR.

He is tough - minded, thorough and totally honest. He wanted only to get to the bottom of the Estes mess.

DEMANDED

For many years Republicans had no legal representation on the Government Operations Subcommittee chaired by Rep. L. H. Fountain of North Carolina. When Fountain announced that his committee would probe Estes, GOP members demanded the right to counsel.

Manuel, minority counsel on the Special House Interstate Highway Committee, took the job at the personal request of Republican National Chairman Bill Miller.

From the very outset of his short tenure, Manuel knew a whitewash was underway. He saw a Democratic counsel—with but two aides—prepare in ten days for public hearings on one of the most complex and serious national scandals in many years.

By comparison, the Senate Investigating Subcommittee of John McClellan has been working with a staff of several score for many weeks, and still will not open public hearings until June 27.

At an executive session prior to opening of public hearings, GOP committee members Florence Dwyer and Odin Langden indicated they meant business. They demanded that Texas Attorney General Will Wilson be called to testify first. They knew he had vital information that under Texas law he could not divulge in his state.

If subpoenaed, however, Wilson would be required to turn over to Congress his data. He told committee members he was anxious that the information be made part of the public record.

Congressman Fountain and his three fellow Democrats refused to call Wilson, however. They called Agriculture Department witnesses who tended to minimize the gravity of the situation.

Republicans asked that their committee find out the disposition of $250,000 spent by Estes in a mysterious "Washington project." They wished to examine in detail the records of Agriculture Secretary Freeman and the connections of his chief aides with Estes.

25 Years Ago

The following events made news 25 years ago today in the June 13, 1937 issue of the News-Star: Russia reported 28 more persons executed in a series of trials involving treason. This brought to 66 the number of executions published.

The Bank of France raised its discount rate to six per cent to check withdrawals of gold, and the country's Socialist cabinet drafted means to battle what was described as a "financial crisis."

The Spanish city of Bilbao pulled itself together for a possible final assault by insurgent forces.

Railroad Siding In Hong Kong

By JIM BISHOP

The sign said Lo Wu. It stood beside a chalky road and, a little beyond, there was a railroad siding. Following the tracks, one came to a black iron bridge. It crouched over the muddy Sham Chun. This is the true Bamboo Curtain. On the near side, two British policemen stood studying their feet, hands behind their backs.

On the far side, Chinese soldiers in the brown tunics of Communism lounged against the rifles across their backs. A small white signal tower glistened with a red star. Some refugees sat on the shady side of the bridge. Their riches were on their backs: a mattress, a chair, a baby, a knotted bundle of clothes.

Most of them were Cantonese. They crouched on their haunches and whispered animatedly. They had been cleared by the People's Government of China to emigrate to British Hong Kong. The English had cleared them after ascertaining that they had bona fide relations in Hong Kong who would keep them from becoming public charges.

LOCOMOTIVE

Now, all that was necessary to complete the little ceremony was the arrival of the old steam locomotive and its 10 cars. It left Canton 45 miles behind the Bamboo Curtain—one morning each week. The refugees watched for it. Their black shoe-button eyes scanned the tawny hills of Mao Tse-tung. If it did not come, they would go back.

No Chinese wanted to go back. They did not despise Communism. Most of them do not understand ideology. Food is god. Communism is hungry. The communes have not produced enough vegetables. There are 600,000,000 people. Even the few who are well fed become hungry again each day. Famine is the breeze which sweeps the land.

Mao Tse-tung would not be angry if one hundred million of his people left. He would give exit visas to the old, the sick, and the very young—all non-producers. This would reduce his food problem a little. His population is exploding. He prefers H-bombs.

The train arrived. It stood panting on the far side of the little bridge as the peasants scampered to get aboard. The British watched from the near side of the bridge. They did not want these people but, through custom, they were forced to accept them.

Hong Kong—which is to say Kowloon and Victoria and the New Territories from Ha Tsuen to Sha Tau Kok, held 3,200,000 people. This is an area of less than 400 square miles—8,000 persons per square mile. The tide of floppy black cotton pants and slipped feet is so strong that a new school or health station is opened every eight days.

Last month, 40,000 Chinese tried to get into Hong Kong by stealth. Some sailed at night in sampans; some swam the Sham sun; some were taken across the border by Chinese smugglers, who sold the refugees Hong Kong clothes, then tipped the British police where to look for them.

This little group got aboard the train. It moves slowly across the iron bridge and, on the British side, pulled onto a siding and stopped. English officials examined the papers, interrogated the Chinese, had them examined medically, and the train moved on down to Kowloon and blugging bags of rice.

Some are spies. The British know this. They have their own Chinese hirelings in Canton and Foochow. There is no sabotage on either side. It is understood that Mao holds all the cards. He controls the water which quenches British thirst. He can shut the valves at any time. Also, at his whim, he can unleash millions of fanatical citizens who will, overnight, race through the tiny British Crown Colony and overwhelm it.

SNOBBERY

The English, with cool snobbery, pretend to be masters of the situation. They issue licenses and permits, enforce laws which include whipping Chinese malefactors, live apart from the teeming millions who throng the streets carrying heavy baskets on bamboo poles, and sit in the cool of the evening in their private clubs, sipping gin and tonic and acting as though their ancient tanks and their battalions of the Queen's Own will, when the time comes, hold back the oriental tide.

The British are the most gallant fighters in the world. Not the brightest, but the most gallant. They lose valiantly, as they did in Christmas week of 1941, when they held the Japanese forces off Hong Kong for three weeks, bleeding and dying because they would not face the inevitable.

They did the same thing in Burma, Malaya, India, Belgium and France. When Mao is ready, the British will do it again in Hong Kong.

Center Newspaper For Elderly

By MARTIN E. SEGAL

At one East Coast center for older persons, the 17-year-old editor of a high school paper helps to put out the center newspaper.

At a West Coast center, it's the other way around. A retired newspaperman gives professional help to teen-aged editors of a boys' club paper.

Thousands of elderly people are receiving—and giving—such help in 218 centers of older persons across the country.

The idea of centers for older persons is only 18 years old and they are serious, costly projects, which explains why there are so few. But they are growing in numbers.

Centers are not the same as "senior citizens" clubs which may meet once a month or once a week in a room at a church or general community center.

The National Council on the Aging defines a center as one providing services in permanent quarters, open at least two days a week, and "under the guidance of paid leaders performing professional tasks."

"The basic purpose of such centers," says the council, "is to provide older people with socially enriching experience which would help preserve their dignity as human beings and enhance their feelings of self-worth."

LARGE ROOM

The first such center was started 18 years ago in New York City. It met in a large room on the ground floor of an old public building. It was furnished whatever other agencies and individuals could spare. The cooking arrangements were an old two-burner stove.

Today, this center has its own specially designed building. It has more than 1,000 members. But some of the best and most active centers do not have such elegant surroundings.

In Philadelphia and Bergen County, N. J., for example, older persons centers are quartered in old houses. In Schenectady, N. Y., they use an old church. In Hamilton, Ohio, it's an old school. More and more public housing projects are including space for such centers.

The budgets of these centers range as widely as their quarters. One gets by on an annual expenditure of $7,000. Another spends $50,000.

Generally, the low-budget centers have some part of their expenses met by contribution. In one community, for example, the Kiwanis Club pays the rent. In another, the State Health Department supplies the professional help.

Every center in a recent study by the National Council on the Aging had at least one professional aide. One had six on the professional staff.

Centers vary in purpose. Some provide educational and recreational space and services. Others are drop-in centers, a sort of community living room for older people, a place to come and sit and talk and meet other older people. The third type provide information and referral for problems of housing, employment, education, personal problems.

Many centers provide all three types of programs.

If you don't have an older person center in your community and want to know more about them, write to the National Council on the Aging, 49 W. 45 Street, New York 36, N. Y.

MY ANSWER

By BILLY GRAHAM

QUESTION: I hear you speak of a "personal experience with Christ," and a "spiritual experience." Just what do you mean by these expressions?

ANSWER: A physical experience is one that is comprehended by the senses: something seen, felt, heard, or touched. A spiritual experience is one that is experienced in the emotions, the conscience, or as we say, "the heart."

You see, man is not only physical—he is spiritual. When a dog bites a man, we take it that he has no remorse of conscience. But when man does wrong, he experiences what we call "guilt feelings." Why? Because he is a spiritual being, feeling guilty when he does wrong, and rewarded when he does good. So, a spiritual experience is one that takes place in the spiritual realm or area of our lives.

What is Christian experience, or as you say, "an experience with Christ"? It is what the New Testament calls the New Birth. Christ said an honest inquirer by the name of Nicodemus, "Except a man be born again he cannot see the kingdom of God." The apostle Paul had such an experience on the Damascus Road and afterward he said, "Old things are passed away and all things are become new." But it did not stop there. This has been happening through the centuries. It happened to me, and it has happened to thousands of others. Your life too may be changed by the power of Christ. If you accept Christ for all He claimed to be, you too can have a personal experience with Him.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

ARE YOU AN ALCOHOLIC?

A study on alcoholics was being conducted in the wards of North Carolina Memorial hospital by Dr. W. S. Pearson. He needed for comparison, or as controls, an equal number of nonalcoholics. But he had trouble finding alcoholics among the hospital patients because this problem was mentioned on so few charts.

Only a small number of those admitted because of heart disease, fractured limbs, or eye surgery mentioned drinking problems.

Dr. Pearson decided to interview 100 men aged 20 or over to determine what percentage had a history of alcoholism. This brought up the second question: Who is an alcoholic? Is it the man or woman who takes two cocktails before dinner or the business man who drinks at lunch and again at night?

The physician decided finally to admit into his list no select group anyone with the co-existence of four or more of the following criteria:

Attacks of amnesia during periods of intoxication. In other words, those who could not remember what they did or said the night before.

The second consideration was sneaking and gulping of drinks. The lone drinker enters this picture.

Loss of control of intake was third on the list. These are the fellows who want one more and then another and another.

Number four was the person who needs a morning eye opener to calm down.

Loss of friends, family, or jobs due to drinking was fifth.

The need to be hospitalized because of imbibing too much was sixth on the list.

According to Dr. Pearson, anyone with four or more of these failings can consider himself an alcoholic. Of the 100 interviewed 29 were definite alcoholics and 9 were highly suspect. Only 12 of the group mentioned their alcoholic problem in the hospital record.

The lesson to learn is that many persons are alcoholics and don't know it. This hidden group needs help.

MAKE BELIEVE

Mrs. R. J. writes: I know children are imaginative but I wonder about my 3 year old daughter. She has two imaginary dogs and three cats she feeds, runs with, and talks and plays with them even when with other children. I would appreciate your opinion.

REPLY

Many 3 year olds have a vivid imagination. There is no need for concern provided the child is otherwise normal and is in good contact with her environment.

ADULT TONSILECTOMY

J. K. writes: When my husband had his tonsils out he hemorrhaged. Does this make him a bleeder? He ought to have some teeth extracted but we are concerned.

REPLY

No. Adults are more likely to bleed after tonsilectomy than are children. A few simple blood tests will demonstrate whether your husband is a bleeder and they should be done because of the outside chance that his blood is slow to clot.

LOW BACK PAIN

G. G. writes: Do kidney ailments cause a stiff lower back?

REPLY

No. Pain or a deep ache is noted in the lower back on one side or the other, depending upon the kidney involved. Pain in the small of the back may stem also from an infected bladder or prostate gland.

IMMEDIATE THREAT

Mills Opposes JFK Tax Plan

By LARRY OSIUS

WASHINGTON (AP)—The chairman of the powerful House Ways and Means Committee says he does not support proposals for an across the board tax cut.

The statement Tuesday by Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., posed an immediate threat to President Kennedy's announced intention of seeking a tax cut from Congress early next year.

In another development, Sen. Eugene McCarthy, D-Minn., said today he is considering trying to write a general tax cut this year into the Kennedy administration's tax revision bill now before the Senate Finance Committee.

Mills, who heads the committee that handles all tax legislation in the House, said while testifying before another House committee, "You have not heard me advocating tax reduction this year or next year."

"I have not committed myself to that course of action. I have not said I would be for a reduction in our total revenues while we are spending more than we are taking in."

Kennedy has proposed a tax cut next year as a means of stimulating the economy and reducing unemployment.

Mills conferred with Kennedy at the White House shortly after his appearance before the House Rules Committee, white House press secretary Pierre Salinger said the meeting had been arranged before Mills made his remarks and that the White House had no comment on the congressman's statement.

Mills told the committee that he favors a broad scale revision of tax laws which the administration is expected to propose as a companion measure with the tax cut. But he made it plain he won't support a measure that might throw the budget for the next fiscal year out of balance, adding to the national debt.

'S.O.B.' Group To Help Finance Harvard Study

WASHINGTON (AP)—Formed as a gag after President Kennedy's crack about businessmen, the "Sons of Business" society has plans to help finance an economic study at Harvard University—the President's alma mater.

Rep. William H. Ayres, R-Ohio, founder, president and only officer of the new organization, observed Tuesday that his society "adds dignity to the term S.O.B. which I understand a well-known Harvard alumnus used to describe businessmen."

Now, he said, his society has built up a fund of $100—from sale of "Sons of Business" buttons—and he plans to give the proceeds to Harvard to start a scholarship fund for a study into "what makes 4, he said, "in hopes that it will further the independence of the American businessman."

Ayres explained that his club has no dues but that he had pins made up as a joke. After being deluged with requests for them, he decided to sell them for 25 cents. He now has about $100 in quarters

Arrest Clears Up Burglaries In West Monroe

The arrest of a New Orleans youth, James D. Taylor, has cleared up several burglaries, which occurred in and around West Monroe. The youth, taken into custody by West Monroe officers, reportedly has admitted two burglaries, both of which occurred on Sept. 16 of last year.

Taylor, who is being held in the Ouachita parish jail, told officers he had entered the Taylor's Lion Service Station, 2510 Cypress street, West Monroe, and the Drew School, located on the Arkansas Road outside West Monroe.

In other police actions, the Monroe department booked an 18-year-old Ruston resident, Jerry Barnett, for theft. He was picked up Tuesday and later released on a bond of $100.

Late Tuesday, Monroe police booked Billy Reece James, 31, 2107 1/2 South M Street, Fort Smith, Ark., for driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages and reckless driving. He was taken into custody in the 400 block of Walnut street at 5:40 a.m.

Actor Free Of Assault Charge

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A teenager is withdrawing his assault complaint against actor Audie Murphy, 37, America's most decorated hero of World War II.

Edward L. Mayer, 18, whom Murphy admitted striking, refused to sign a complaint Tuesday.

Murphy told police that Mayer and another youth were sitting in their parked car when he questioned them about lewd phone calls and literature which had been annoying a woman friend.

The actor said they became abusive, so he gave Mayer a "little punch in the face" when he slapped at Murphy's flashlight.

BATON ROUGE (Staff Special) — Sen. Jamar Adcock of Monroe said Tuesday Gov. Jimmie H. Davis "would do better by talking more to the press to keep the people better informed."

Adcock took the floor against the governor's personal measure to require newspapers to retract "false" reports on the front page.

The bill was introduced after several Senators protested, by an administration floor leader, Sen. W. J. Cleveland of Crowley.

"I introduced the bill by request," Cleveland explained.

The bill was introduced after a Baton Rouge columnist, Margaret Dixon, reported that the governor's mother-in-law was telling friends how much she enjoyed a trip to Washington in the governor's airplane.

Adcock said his own trouble was that he "talked too much." "My wife refers to this as my open-mouth policy," he said. "I think Gov. Davis' trouble is that he doesn't talk enough."

Adcock also had this advice for his colleagues:

"I would like to call to the at-

PETTIT

Planned to remove Wayne Hucksby from his post as parish engineer, Pettit replied, "No sirree," and stressed that he had made this point publicly.

Then the new president commented, "The jury voted to keep him on for the balance of the year and there's no way of doing otherwise, even if we wanted to."

STORY LATER

Pettit declined to comment further, noted that he had a lunch engagement and said he would "give a story a mile long" at a later time.

On the question of whether he will quit, Hucksby said only that he is free to leave at anytime he wants.

He submitted a report to the jury showing that road fund finances are $136,143.02 more than they were at this time one year ago when he took office, and also pointing out that 61 per cent more road work was done during the past year than was done in the 12 months before he was hired.

Montgomery and Pettit both have represented Ward Three for 10 years. Montgomery had served as president for the past five years. The office of president is a one-year term.

Here's how the voting went: Kilpatrick, F. G. Studdard, ward 1; M. W. Montgomery, 3; Leslie G. Hamm, 5; Jesse W. Wilson, 9; L. U. Fourmy, Irvin W. Kilpatrick and A. E. Montgomery, all of Ward 10.

Pettit: Leland T. Carpenter, ward 2; L. B. Pettit and Rankin W. Earle, 3; Mrs. Bertha W. Kincaid, 4; James O. Avant, 5; Lloyd W. Coon, 6; W. O. Roberts, 7; J. H. Brown, 8.

Webb Roberts, who was re-elected vice - president without opposition, commented on his terms of office under Montgomery, termed the outgoing president "one of the nicest men I've worked with," and said, "I've found him beyond reproach."

In accepting office, Pettit pledged to cooperate with the members of the jury and to "do my best to treat everyone fair and square."

Montgomery commented that he would "like to thank all of the Police Jurors for the cooperation given me while I was president." He also thanked the press and radio - TV for "giving us good coverage."

Immediately after the prayer which opened the meet, Montgomery announced that, "for the good of the parish I think it's time to do something" about the failure to elect a new president. "I would like not to have my name considered for president... I'd like to withdraw it."

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Miami News received notice of a speech contest in which a key word was spelled orotical, orotical and orotical.

BUDGET

was established to make emergency appropriations between sessions of the Legislature.

VOTE CONTROL

"This is just a way to play a million dollars worth of politics," protested Sen. Johnny Rogers of Grand Cane. "It will control a few more votes."

Sen. Speedy O. Long of Jena, only lawmaker from northeast Louisiana who voted against the bill, said he could see the possibility of "a lot more trading."

He referred to the governor's million-dollar mansion, which the Legislature approved in a mail ballot from funds authorized in a $60-million capital improvement bond issue.

If the House passes the bill, it will mark the first open increase in Davis' proposed budget, which is being considered behind closed doors.

Rogers said Davis had told the budget committee he wanted nothing changed in the budget.

Sen. Adrain Duglantier of New Orleans said nothing good could come from dumping the extra million dollars into a pot that the lawmakers had no control over.

But the Senate rejected his amendment, 5 to 31, to divide the $1 million evenly among the state's 144 Legislators, giving each $6,866 for emergency spending.

"The thought behind this bill," explained Sen. W. J. Cleveland, an administration floor leader from Crowley, "is to avert a special session."

He said it was clear that some state agencies would need more money during the coming fiscal year.

But Sen. A. C. Clemons Jr. of Jennings said, "This is just another million dollars to be handled by a mail ballot through the governor's office."

The Board of Liquidation at present has a $1 million ceiling, which was established as a reform measure under the Sam Jones administration as a result of the Louisiana scandals.

The increase will give the board $2 million annually.

While the Rayburn bill touched off the major scrap of the day, the House was unable to settle a floor scuffle over Rep. Lantz Womack's milk bill.

The bill would establish minimum and maximum prices on the retailer, but opponents charged that it would increase the price of milk.

Womack returned the measure to the calendar, but made it the special order of the day for Sunday night.

COLLEGE BILL

The House also killed, 27-65, a bill to establish commuter branches of LSU and Southern University in the Shreveport - Bossier area.

Rep. L. D. Napper, a Ruston lawmaker who is a strong supporter of Louisiana Tech, spoke against the measure, as did Rep. Risley Triche, a floor leader.

But after the House voted, Rep. Ford Stinson, a co-sponsor of Bossier, said, "I want to congratulate the House for being conservative. I am sorry that the trend started with this particular bill."

He said that after a hearing on the bill, Napper told him that he hoped his "speech trickled back to Lincoln Parish."

"I hope it does," Stinson said. "I also hope it gets back to Bossier and Caddo."

He added, "Let's hold the line. Let's be conservative all the way."

PVT. LARRY A. ABSHIER, 18, of Cleveland, was identified today by the U.S. Army in Seoul, Korea, as the American soldier reported by Pyongyang radio to have taken refuge in Communist North Korea. The Army said Abshier apparently was the first defector to the Reds in Korea since the end of the Korean War. (AP Wirephoto)

I hope Mr. Triche takes the leadership too."

In other action, the House Tuesday:

Passed a bill to stiffen the penalties for armed robbery.

Delayed until Sunday night a bill to create a state milk commission empowered to regulate trade practices.

Passed an administration bill putting restrictions on persons who could benefit under state aid for municipal police pay.

Committees of both houses approved a bill to modernize state highway regulations.

In other House committee action Tuesday:

The Judiciary B Committee approved an administration bill to add $2 to all traffic fines of $20 or more to finance driver education.

The Judiciary A Committee approved a Communist registration bill sponsored by the Joint Legislative Committee on un-American Activities.

Judiciary B delayed action on a House bill to permit any newspaper with 10,000 circulation or more to become the official state journal.

Munson said that if a governor could succeed himself he would have the opportunity to conduct long-range thinking and long-range programs that would be of benefit to the people.

The bill would permit the governor to succeed himself but would prohibit any governor from serving over two terms — consecutive or otherwise.

Rep. J. K. Smith of Shreveport, charged however that the bill would permit the establishment of political machines in Louisiana.

A similar bill was introduced in the Senate by Sen. Charles Deichmann of New Orleans, Sen. James Adcock of Monroe.

Northeast Louisiana lawmakers voting for the Little Hoover Commission bill were Fields, Rep. Chester Floyd of Jena, Rep. Lawrence Gibbs of Monroe, Rep. Mike John Jr. of Ruston, Rep. Edgar Lancaster of Tallulah, Rep. L. D. Napper of Ruston, Rep. Lasley Downes of Rayville, Rep. W. S. Peck Jr. of Sicily Island, Rep. Lonnie Richmond of Oak Grove.

Academic Evaluation Of Child Must Be Complete

By DAVID NYDICK
UPI Education Specialist

At this time of year some parents are faced with the possibility of their child's retention (non-promotion). Let's look at this realistically. What is to be gained? Is it a disgrace? How can we help?

Most available research indicates that, on the average, students do not benefit from retention. However, an average means that some do benefit while others do not. By carefully analyzing the total picture of the child, academic progress, social and emotional adjustment, age, size, playmates, a relatively accurate prediction can be made. Look carefully at the reasons for the child's failure to meet the school standards. Does he have a physical defect... hearing, sight? The causes can give a good indication as to whether or not retention will be helpful.

Do not look for a hasty decision. Consider all aspects in relation to your child. However, if retention is deemed the answer, you can do a great deal to help the situation. Show your child that his placement has caused him to have difficulties. Now he will have a fair chance to accomplish his work satisfactorily. Do not show despair and disappointment. You cannot hide his failure but you can help him to understand what is happening. Encouragement and confidence on your part will be extremely important. A well thought out retention can, logically, be helpful in many areas of your child's development. It is difficult for parents to accept retention, but a clear analysis of the situation will help you to understand how you can be of assistance.

My third grader has been ill and missed fifty - two days of school. He is having problems with reading and arithmetic. Should I ask the school to retain him so that he won't move on with wide gaps in his basic knowledge? Answer:

Based upon your outline, this third grader's problems began with his absences and are limited to the academic areas. I would recommend investigating the possibility of tutoring or other type of extra help. Retention would remove him from his proper social placement. This could lead to other serious implications. Discuss the matter with the school principal who can relate the problem to his school program.

Similar situations can be avoided by a request for home instruction which is supplied in many schools with state funds. Question:

My tenth grader has had increasing difficulty with his work during the past year. His study habits are becoming worse and he is thinking about leaving school. How can I help encourage him to complete his education? Answer:

Your son is developing a serious problem. Do not waste time looking for a simple solution but make immediate contact with the school guidance counselor. Your son needs assistance in solving his problems which naturally will affect his future. You state that his problems have been a recent development which indicates that they can be solved if quickly and properly approached.

Shreveport Inmate Offers Eye To Boy

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — August Courtney, 40, held in jail here on charges of armed robbery, has offered one of his eyes to a 5-year-old Italian boy who faces possible lifetime blindness.

Courtney made the offer after reading of Nunzio d'Ambrosio, brought by his father to New York City last week in hopes specialists could restore his sight. But a noted surgeon there said: "No operation in the world could help."

The boy has already undergone five unsuccessful operations in Italy. He lost the sight of one eye three years ago when his head struck a chair in a fall. The blow also injured his right eye. Courtney, who has lived in Shreveport the past 10-12 years, said he wanted to do something for the boy in return for God's favor to him. Courtney said God spared the lives of his parents, his wife and four of their five children in an auto accident June 3 near Beckville, Tex.

"God was watching over them," said Courtney, "and I think he would want me to do this."

ALVIN B. WEBB, JR., WRITES

For every person who has volunteered his services in recent months as an astronaut there have been scores—some of them among history's most brilliant figures—who cherished similar hopes in eras now dead. Almost from the day he quit walking on four limbs and learned to think, man has yearned to break the mysterious chains that bound him to earth and go soaring through the kingdom of sun, moon and stars.

The dream of space flight goes far back in time and stories about it crop up in early Greek mythology. Daedalus was a Greek who, as legend had it, had some interest in space. He was a bit odd so he nominated his son, Icarus, to become an early day "astronaut." His technical knowledge limited, Daedalus made the best of what was available and built a set of wings out of wax feathers for his son. The young man, unfortunately, strayed a little too close to the sun and the wax melted. Out came the feathers and Icarus became the first space casualty.

Jules Verne in his 19th century novel, "From The Earth To The Moon," launched a spaceship full of astronauts from a launching site in Florida. (Not Cape Canaveral). Verne's method for starting his voyage probably would have left a "live" spaceman with multiple fractures of all 206 bones. Verne fired the spaceship from the bottom of a 900-foot long cannon.

Verne's choice of the cannon-ball technique over rockets, which had been in existence for over hundreds of years by then, remains something of a mystery. However, the inaccuracy and outright treachery of those primitive rockets had given them a vile reputation, and Verne probably decided to utilize something that was a little better understood.

In time the rocket was to prove the answer to the problem of transporting men. But man arrived at this conclusion almost by a process of eliminating other proposals that ranged from leather wings to huge balloons.

The Chinese are credited with the invention of the rocket. In all likelihood it was the result of someone mishandling a firecracker. Such fireworks, if opened at one end will leap forward a few feet. After that it was just a matter of always leaving one end of a firecracker undone and adding more gunpowder to produce the first skyrocket.

An early day astronaut, named Wang Hoo, in the 14th Century, rigged up a device in which a pair of huge kites were attached to a framework which, in turn was to be boosted by 48 skyrocketers fueled with crude gunpowder. Wang Hoo, as the story goes, mounted a saddle in the middle of this contraption and strapped himself as countdown in those days eventually reached zero and 48 coolies simultaneously ignited the 48 rockets. Flame and smoke enveloped Wang Hoo, his space-ship and the 48-man launch crew. When the debris settled, Wang Hoo was gone.

It remained for three scientists of three different nations to change these flights of fancy into a scientific reality. A Russian, Konstantin Ziolkovsky, an American, Robert Goddard, and a German, Hermann Oberth, came up with the first serious scientific plans and attempts to reach space.

Ziolkovsky was a deaf school-teacher so far out of touch with the rest of the scientific world that he worked for years to make "discoveries" only to find that they had already been in use for decades. History honors him for an extraordinary paper published in 1903 which puts forth the theory that kerosene-type liquid propellants already in existence would lift spaceships. Virtually all of today's U.S. and Soviet space-ships are powered by liquid fuels that are governed by the formulae he outlined three score years ago.

The Russian produced the paper theory and the American turned it into reality. Robert Hutchins Goddard is remembered by the world today as the "father of rocketry." Rocketry was virtually Goddard's life. On March 16, 1926, he traveled in secrecy to a farm near Auburn, Mass. There, in an open field, he quietly cracked the doorway to space. The young professor launched the world's first liquid-fueled rocket. It was a liquid-oxygen gasoline contraption that flew only about 184 feet in two and one-half seconds. It was to rocketry that the Wright Brothers' flight was to aviation a little less than a quarter of a century earlier.

While Goddard unlatched the doorway to the future it remained for Germany's Oberth—later with the help of an eager young man named Wernher von Braun—to open the doorway wide to space exploration by men and their machines. He proposed a rocket powered spaceship as early as 1921 and also proposed a satellite in orbit around the globe.

A long history of failures and successes make up the history of rocketry. But in many ways all men had much in common with the ill-fated Wang Hoo—a vigorous and expanding interest in finding out what lay beyond earth's atmosphere. Different times, different places, different approaches but all with one common trait—they all had a magnificent Dream.

Special Honor Is Announced For Area Site

WASHINGTON (Special) —The Interior Department Tuesday picked Poverty Point for special honor as a national historical site.

The Point, near Delhi, is an Indian mound 35 times the volume of the great pyramid of Egypt.

The agency said Poverty Point is "apparently unique" among North American archeological sites because it is the largest and most complex ceremonial earthwork of its kind.

Poverty Point mound, the central feature of the structure, measures, 640 by 710 feet at its base and rises nearly 70 feet from the base.

Although not so high as the great pyramid of Egypt, it contains the greatest cubic volume. An octagonal earthwork surrounding the mound measures three-fourths of a mile across except at the eastern side, which has been washed away.

Radio carbon dating shows the site was in use about 700 B. C.

Berra Saves Yanks; Angels Knock Twins Off Top Rung

Dodgers Fall; Giants Break Losing Streak

By FRED DOWN
UPI Sports Writer

Move over Tris Speaker, Joe DiMaggio and Willie Mays. The Yankees have come up with a new ball hawk in their outfield! He's a squat, 36-year-old little guy named Yogi Berra and the glittering key catch he made Tuesday night came as much of a surprise to him as it did to Manager Bob Scheffing and the Detroit Tigers.

"Beat that for Yankee Luck," wailed Scheffing in the wake of the 2-1 Yankee victory that extended the Tigers' losing streak to five games. "We know he can beat us with the bat but to have him come up with a great catch in left field is too much!"

The erstwhile Yankee catcher made his brilliant, tumbling catch of a 410-foot bid for a triple or homer by Jake Wood in the fifth inning of Bill Stafford's six-hit triumph. It came with Dick Brown on base and preserved Stafford's 2-0 lead through the Detroit fifth inning. Stafford went on to shut out the Tigers until singles by Rocky Colavito, Vic Wertz and Chico Fernandez produced a run in the ninth and ended his string of 25 consecutive scoreless frames.

CATCH SURPRISES BERRA

Berra made his catch in deeper left field than Al Giofriddo's famed World Series robbery of DiMaggio in 1947. He admitted he didn't think he could make it when the ball was hit.

"I thought it was gone over my head," Yogi said. "But I kept running, stuck out my glove and there it was."

Roger Maris' 11th homer of the season was the blow of the seven-hit Yankee attack that earned Stafford his sixth win and dealt Frank Lary his fourth loss. The win snapped the Yankees' three-game losing streak, and boosted them back into first place in the American League when the Los Angeles Angels beat the Minnesota Twins, 7-5.

The Boston Red Sox shaded the Baltimore Orioles, 4-3, and the Kansas City Athletics edged out the Chicago White Sox, 2-1, in other AL games.

The San Francisco Giants broke out of their six-game losing skid with 2-1 and 7-5 victories over the Cincinnati Reds; the Milwaukee Braves crushed the first-place Los Angeles Dodgers, 15-2. The St. Louis Cardinals topped the Philadelphia Phillies, 3-2, and the Houston Colts defeated the New York Mets, 3-2, and the Pittsburgh Pirates downed the Chicago Cubs, 4-3, in National League games.

TWINS DROP TO SECOND

Lee Thomas homered in the third and seventh innings to help Don Lee score his second straight victory for the Angels and drop the Twins into second place. Len Green hit a two-run homer for Minnesota in the ninth.

Frank Malzone drove in three runs with a homer and a single and Pete Runnels had three hits for the Red Sox as Ike Delock won his first game, while Dave Wickersham pitched a three-hitter against the White Sox enabling the Athletics to end their six-game losing streak.

Juan Marichal pitched a seven-hitter and singled home the winning run in the seventh inning of San Francisco's opener and Orlando Cepeda drove in four runs with his 16th and 17th homers of the season in the ninth. Mike McCormick went 7-23 in his second game win although he needed help from both Stu Miller and Don Larsen to close out the game. Jim O'Toole and Moe Drabowsky were the losing pitchers for the Reds.

Fred Whitfield's two-run eighth-inning homer enabled the Cardinals to pull out their victory over the Phillies and give Don Ferrarese his first win; Joe Amalfitano climaxed a two-run last-of-the-ninth Houston rally to sink the Mets' Craig Anderson, and Harvey Haddix went 7-13 in his fifth win for the Pirates, who dealt Chicago's Glen Hobbie his eighth defeat against one triumph.

Pelican League

Bill Duncan pitched a sparkling one-hitter and struck out 11 batters to carry Kilpatrick's to an 8-1 victory over McGuire Real Estate in the opening game of the West Monroe Pelican League Tuesday night at Confederate Park.

The second game, between Brown-Rivers-Scogin and a Peoples' Homestead was rained out after two innings with Peoples' leading, 1-0. The game has been rescheduled for Saturday night at 6 p.m.

Glenn Carter paced Kilpatrick's hitting attack with three safeties in five at-bats. Duncan also aided his own cause with a triple. Ken George was his battery mate.

Ray Alexander got McGuire's only hit. Gary Bright and Tommy Laws were charged with the loss.

Winnboro and Oak Grove battle for the North League lead at Winnboro Saturday night with Winnboro currently setting a 4-0 pace and Oak Grove 4-1.

Two Friday games match Epps at Delhi and Newellton at Rayville. Sunday's games are Rayville at Epps and Delhi at Newellton.

CHAMPS WIN, 16-0

Causey 1-Hitter Trips Builders

FARMERVILLE, La. (Special)—The Terral Builders of Farmerville, playing Bastrop tonight, saw Brown-Rivers-Scogin of Monroe at its season's best Tuesday night as the defending state American Legion Junior champions slugged out a 16-0 victory.

First, Farmerville couldn't solve the offerings of Lynn Causey, the now graduated Ouachita Parish high pitching ace, who held the Builders to one hit while fanning 11 and walking only two. Second, Farmerville found B-R-S bats hitting too regularly with an 11-hit attack led by catcher Eddie Kincaid's 2-for-3.

Install Palmer 5-1 Choice To Rule U.S. Open Tourney

OAKMONT, Pa., (AP)—Arnold Palmer, his confidence booming again like his rocket-ride drives, is a 5-1 favorite to gain the second leg of professional golf's grand slam in the 62nd U.S. Open championship beginning Thursday at the Rugged Oakmont Country Club course.

Little League

Southside—North Monroe Lions vs. Friendsville—King Finance vs. Van Trow Olds, 7 p.m., Bendel Stadium.
Eastside—Three-Way Finance vs. A. and C. Music, 7 p.m., Eastside Field.
Minor "A"—Greenlee BMA vs. First Federal, 5:15, Lions Field.
Minor "C"—Green Brothers Dairy vs. Squire Shop, 5:15, Eastside Field.
Minor "B"—Hillier's Gift Shop vs. First Presbyterian, 5:15, Bendel Stadium.

A & C Music blanked Three-Way Finance, 2-0, in a Little League match after the Paragon Club had downed Fog Service, 8-2, in a Minor "D" League contest at Eastside Park Tuesday night.

Wilson hurled a three-hitter for A & C and Wilks led the winners' four-hit attack with two hits in two official trips to the plate. Payne handled the catching duties for A & C.

Carver was the big gun for Three-Way with two for three. Hale and Darnalge were the losing battery.

Johnny Giddons fired a two-hitter at Fog Service in the minor league game. Catcher Ned Massee was the leading hitter with three for three, including an inside-the-park homer. Yeager and Scruggs took the loss.

Rain ended play in the bottom of the fifth inning at Northside park with Gays and Monroe Brick all tied up at 10-10.

A. Williams hit a triple to help R&A Jewelers edged Handlines, 3-2, in a Minor F League battle last night. Salisbury was the winning pitcher and Brown and C. Williams was the winning battery.

Monroe Glass topped MGM, 10-3, as Yeager, Statham and Davis each got two hits. Harris and Davis won over Gorrero, Dean and Semms.

In a make-up tilt, Lions Club stopped Buddy Blair, 3-1 as Merand Harrison won over Bright and cer and Evans won over Darnell and Myers. Evans and Danna got two hits each for the Lions while Clowers got three for the losers.

Twin City Printing edged Palace, 13-12, in a Southside League slugfest with Smith, Wallace and Graves winning over Sanaingo, Morris and Hancock. Graves got two homers while Kokinos and Trudnax got three hits each, one of Trudnax's a homer, for the winners while Moore got three safeties for the Palace.

22nd try for his first Open title. But Palmer's the man for the galleries, who have been packing this fabled course in the hills of western Pennsylvania for practice rounds in numbers unheard of at the National Open before. Tuesday's crowd was announced at 7,670 by the U.S. Golf Association and that seemed a timid figure.

"There must have been nearly that many just following us," said Bob Rosburg, who played in Palmer's practice foursome.

Palmer, who is trying to complete the Masters — U.S. Open-British Open-U.S. PGA grand slam this year, feels the winning score will be close to 280—four under par for the 72 holes and three strokes less than the great Ben Hogan used here in winning his last of four Open championships in 1953.

"I think it'll be right around 280," Arnold said. "I know I'll feel more than satisfied if I can shoot that."

Support continues strong for defending champion Gene Littler, despite an estimated 82 in his first look at Oakmont, and such other tournament-tested stars as Billy Casper, Gary Player, Doug Finsterwald, Mike Souchak, Doug Sanders, Doug Ford, Jack Nicklaus, and, of course, old Samuel Jackson Snead, who will make his crash.

Gets Golf Post

OAKMONT, Pa. (UPI)—Charles P. Stevenson of Buffalo, N.Y., has been named to fill the unexpired term of William C. Chapman on the executive committee of the United States Golf Association.

Chapman, of Rochester, N.Y., was killed recently in an airplane crash.

BUSINESS MIRROR

Gold Traders Hike Price Again

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—Business and government are joining forces to seek ways to halt the outflow of gold from the U.S. Treasury.

But even as they are trying to find a common cause after many weeks of bickering on other problems, foreign traders in the metal were expressing skepticism by raising the price of gold again on the London free market.

The price Tuesday morning jumped to $35.10 an ounce, compared with $35.09 Friday and $35.08 a week ago. The U.S. Treasury's official price is $35 plus about eight cents in charges. The premium gold now commands in the free market reflects outsiders' judgment of the difficulty of the task the U.S. government and a group of top businessmen face in seeking to strengthen the dollar and halt the gold outflow.

Buyers of gold in London were not named. But since the U.S. Treasury and the Federal Reserve System have been working closely with foreign central banks in recent months to stabilize the price of gold, and build bulwarks against any run on the non-Communist world's principal currencies, much of the gold buying presumably is by speculator or other traders than the central banks themselves.

The London free market handles newly mined gold as well as any metal which the banks may wish to sell or buy at any particular time, and any metal which hoarders may want to unload or acquire.

The steady rise in recent days of the dollar price for gold in London has been variously attributed to foreign uneasiness about the state of the U.S. economy after the stock market break, or fears of prolonged Treasury deficits which they feel might mean more inflation with a corresponding weakening of the marketplace value of the dollar, or belief that American attempts to solve its balance of payments deficit will be unavailing or only partially successful.

Coffee Hour Held For Mrs. Stewart

Thursday, June 7, Mrs. W. D. McGee entertained at her home on Auburn Avenue with a coffee, honoring Mrs. William S. Stewart, who has recently moved to Baton Rouge.

Greeting the guests at the entrance were Mrs. McGee and Mrs. Stewart. The honoree was dressed in a blue embossed cotton shirtwaist with white accessories, accented by a corsage of sweet-heart roses, gift of the hostess.

Focal point of the living room was the mantel, banked with masses of magnolia blossoms and greenery, with figurines placed at either end, and reflected by a mirror hanging above. The coffee table held an arrangement of white feverfew placed in a blue bowl, while the piano featured blue and pink hydrangeas rising from a blue bowl tinged with pink.

The dining table was overlaid with a white linen cloth centered by an arrangement of white stock, pink carnations and dutch iris, in a silver container. Holding the party pastries were silver trays and compotes. Those alternating at the silver coffee service were Mrs. Carter Ackel, Mrs. Don Kipper, and Mrs. Evelyn Curry, all P. E. O. DEAR ABBY

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Three years ago I married a man who had all kinds of "big ideas." Thank heavens I was able to support myself because that's what I have been doing. But I can't support both of us forever. Abby, he is "proud." He is a college grad. (I am not.) He has been offered jobs, but he doesn't accept them because they are all "beneath him." I tell him to take whatever he can get until one of his big "deals" materializes. It is like talking to the wall. What does a wife do with a husband who sits at home doing nothing and then goes out to collect unemployment compensation? Fortunately, we have no children.

CARRYING THE LOAD

DEAR CARRYING: Perhaps you are doing such a good job of "carrying the load" your husband is reluctant to compete with you. Why don't you quit your job and hoist the burden on his shoulders for awhile? He might surprise you. And if he doesn't you'll know that you

Teacher Held As Witness In Actress Slaying Case

TOMS RIVER, N.J. (AP)—A drama teacher who accompanied Phyllis Jones to Long Beach Island was held Tuesday as a material witness in the young actress' slaying.

Ocean County Judge Robert F. Nevins set bail of $2,000 for Miss Rose Schulman, 52, Rose Valley, Pa., an instructor at the Hedgerow Theater Dramatic School in Moylan, Pa.

Miss Jones, 24, red-haired and attractive, of West Norristown Township, Pa., studied at the school two nights a week.

Capt. Calvin Woolley, chief of Ocean County detectives, said authorities wanted Miss Schulman held as a material witness so that she would be readily available for questioning. He said she is not a suspect and came to New Jersey voluntarily.

Miss Jones was found Sunday night clad only in a bathing suit in a gravel pit near Whiting. Her hands were tied behind her with the strap of her halter. She had been struck on the back of the head, jaw and nose.

A second autopsy was performed by Dr. Milton Helpern, chief New York City medical examiner. Authorities indicated the blow on the head may not have been the cause of death.

The girl's body was identified by her father, Arch R. Jones, Norristown, Pa. The girl was reported missing Sunday morning. In tracing Miss Jones' movements over the 35 miles between the beach to where the body was found, police pieced together this account:

Miss Jones and Miss Schulman left the drama school Saturday in Miss Jones' car for a one-day visit to Long Beach Island. They stopped for breakfast.

Miss Schulman told authorities that Miss Jones then said she would take a walk to the end of the island, some 15 miles away. When Miss Jones failed to return, the teacher decided to visit friends and then took a bus back home.

Body Of Slayer's Stepmother Found

SIGOURNEY, Iowa (UPI)—The body of the missing stepmother of admitted mass killer Gayno Gilbert Smith was found Tuesday buried in a lime-sprinkled grave and authorities said her skull had been crushed by a powerful blow with a blunt instrument.

The body of red-haired Mrs. Juanita Smith, 46, was dug from a shallow grave beside her home at nearby Hedrick, Iowa. It was positively identified by a cupid tattoo.

Keokuk County Sheriff John (Bud) Wallerich and state bureau of criminal investigation agent R. K. Carmichael said Gayno Smith who has admitted killing five relatives in an unexplained outburst a little more than two weeks ago, would be questioned about his stepmother's death.

Authorities said Mrs. Smith died of "massive fractures on the left side of the skull committed with a blunt instrument." Officials said there also was a laceration on her throat but that it was not the cause of death.

Smith, a 24-year-old meek-looking farm hand, orally admitted killing his uncle, aunt and three cousins at their farm home on May 27. However, he told authorities he knew nothing of his stepmother's whereabouts. He said the last he knew she was planning to go to California last fall.

Mrs. Smith's body was found near the home where she and Gayno lived until last fall when she disappeared. The body was taken to Des Moines for examination by a pathologist.

Positive identification was made through the tattoo on her upper left arm near the shoulder. Aiding in the identification, authorities said, was the existence of a broken rib and a stub of a tooth — injuries recorded when Mrs. Smith was hospitalized after an auto accident last summer.

Officials said they could not determine precisely when the death occurred. They said the victim had been dead for some time.

Polk, Chaffee

To Stay Open

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Ft. Polk in Louisiana and Ft. Chaffee in Arkansas, reactivated last year to train National Guardsmen and reservists, will stay open, the Army said Tuesday.

Both posts had been closed since 1959. The 49th Armored Division of the Texas National Guard now is at Ft. Polk and Kentucky's 100th training division is the biggest unit at Ft. Chaffee. Their release from active duty is scheduled in August.

A Fourth Army headquarters spokesman said Ft. Polk is being made a training center and its first group of men will arrive in July. He said there may be as many as 20,000 soldiers at the Louisiana post eventually.

Ft. Chaffee will become a base for about 9,000 active Army troops. The kind of units to be sent there will be decided later.

Kennedy Butt Of Angry Humor

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — President Kennedy, says comedian Mort Sahl, brought Big Steel to its knees "so it could face the consumer on an eye-to-eye level." Think that's funny?

How about this one? Negro comedian Dick Gregory, needing an applauding audience, says: "Don't clap. Just take me to lunch when it's not Brotherhood Week."

These are samples of the contemporary angry humor examined Tuesday night on ABC-TV's "Close-Up," guided by a producer-director-writer who has become the creator of television's most exciting documentaries—and is, I blush to admit, a lady.

The lady is one Helen Jean Rogers; and she and her staff have such a dazzling and show-manlike knowledge of the use of sound, sight and editing on television that it is easy to overlook her oversights.

Tuesday night, for instance, amid all the razzle-dazzle and surface explanations by cartoonists Al Capp and Jules Feiffer, Prof. Bergen Evans and others, it suddenly occurred that the problems of social satirists on commercial television had not been brought to the fore, to coin a phrase.

It was an ideal and timely situation for such a probe: Sahl, who said Tuesday night that "the President has to be discussed just like anybody else," is the resident host this week on the "Tonight" show vacated by Jack Paar. And, having personally been unable to crack network television with a series of his own, he is more than qualified to talk on the matter. Furthermore, the network dismissals of Bob Newhart and Steve Allen, combined with the return next season of Sid Caesar, were excellent fodder for discussion.

The name of Miss Rogers' show was "What's So Funny?"—and its only weak moments were attempts to analyze the "new wave" humor. The essence of humor, especially satire, is that its targets are immediately recognizable; and an explanation to the supposedly intelligent audience is aimed at is superfluous, except to those of a pedantic turn of mind.

Happily, there was more demonstration than explanation. The talented "Second City" troupe of comedians in Southeast Asia who were concerned because he commanded some pacifists and thought this might be "tricky" militarily. And a fellow from "The Unicorn" in Washington, D.C., told how Caroline Kennedy cut in on a phone conversation between the President and Premier Khrushchev. Kennedy tells her she's speaking to Santa Claus and President has to be discussed just like anybody else," is the hobby."

Navy Tricks Spy Ship Into Showing Gear

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii (UPI) — Navy sources told Tuesday night how its Neptune patrol planes tricked a Soviet spy ship in the Pacific into showing its espionage equipment.

The Navy pulled the scheme because pictures taken through a submarine's periscope of the spy ship's operations were not too good.

Sources said U.S. planes, ships and submarines had been shadowing the Russians but always found the crews in a playful mood.

"Every time an American ship approached, or one of our planes passed overhead, we'd see the happy Russians playing volleyball, waving gleefully just like a cruise ship," these sources said.

But American ingenuity finally produced for the Navy the pictures needed.

Neptune patrol planes made sweeps on exact schedules with no attempt made to hide the fact that the planes were on a photographic mission.

The Russians felt for the trick. They would hide their equipment at the scheduled time and start playing volleyball for the Neptune photographers.

"One day," a Navy source said, "the Neptune made his usual before-lunch visit, circled the ship, shot his pictures and left just as the always had done. After disappearing around for half an hour the plane came back, belly on the deck and so low the napping Russians missed him in their radar."

"We caught them with their suspenders dangling, but with their aerials and screens strung up all over the place. We got some wonderful pictures, too, one showing a Russian sailor shaking his fist at the plane."

Girl Drowns; 3 Guards On Duty

NATCHITOCHES, La. (UPI) — Shirley Barron, 15, of Natchitoches, drowned Tuesday afternoon in the City Park swimming pool here, even though three life guards were on duty at the time.

The girl was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse W. Barron. Police said some children in the pool told the life guards the Barron girl had gone under the water and had not come up. They later discovered the body, but efforts to revive her failed.

Kidnaping Case Remains Puzzler

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — Say you are the parents of four happy children, living in a pleasant home in a quiet neighborhood. Then one morning you awaken and find your 8-year-old daughter is gone from her bedroom.

There is a frantic search. Days, weeks and months pass and there are only false clues and dead ends.

This happened to Mr. and Mrs. Donald S. Burr the morning of Aug. 31, 1961. More than nine months later the case of Ann Marie Burr still is an agonizing mystery.

It was cold and rainy that Aug. 31. Mrs. Burr, 33, awakened shortly after 5:30 a.m. She heard their youngest child, Mary, 3, crying. Mary was bothered by a cast put on her arm after an accident. The other children, Greg, 5, and Julie, 7, were asleep in a basement bedroom before, also was open. A bench beneath the window was overturned.

When Mrs. Burr looked in Ann Marie's bedroom, it was empty. The Burrs searched every room and closet in the two-story brick home. Then they called police. There was ample cause for alarm. The front door, locked and latched with a night chain the evening before, was open. A small Tacoma police are just as puzzled. More than 1,500 persons were questioned in the first 12 days of the search.

Robert J. Drost, detective captain, has a 500-page file on the Ann Marie case on a rack above his desk.

"I've read every page in that file four times," said Drost, "and it reads the same each time."

Missing person bulletins have been sent to every state and to Canada and Mexico. When Ann Marie first disappeared, hundreds of searchers combed the city's wooded areas and vacant lots.

Police made a house-to-house check of the neighborhood. All known child molesters and sex offenders were questioned.

With no proof Ann Marie was abducted, the FBI could only stand by to assist. Although police are almost certain there was an abduction, the case still has not been listed officially as kidnapping.
